Mrs. Powell Almost Dead.

Dry Ridge, Ky.—"I could hardly walk across the room," says Mrs. Lydia Powell, of Dry Ridge, "before I tried Cardui. I was so poorly, I was almost dead. Now I can walk four miles and do my work with much more ease. I praise Cardui for my wonderful cure." Cardui is successful in benefiting sick women, because it is composed of ingredients, that act specifically on the womanly constitution, relieving headache, backache, irregularity, misery and distress. Only a good medicine could show such continual increase in popularity as Cardui has for the past 50 years. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic.—Advertisement.

SPECIAL TO WOMEN

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed. As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." STARTING A FLOCK OF SHEEP

Ram Is Main Thing and Conformation Should Be Preferred to Size—Keep Best Ewe Lambs.

(BY SMALL ILLINGTON.)

The ram is the main thing. Unless the head of the flock is everything he should be, it will be impossible to breed up to the highest standard.

In selecting the ram, look for conformation, rather than size. Some big rams are poor breeders.

The ram should be close to the ground, square as a block, and strong in bone. He should have a well-shaped head and a clean cut all-around makeup.

If you are near a good, big market for lambs, Southdowns are about the most profitable sheep to raise.

The man who goes into sheep-raising for market, ought to buy a few of the best pure-bred ewes he can afford. Get the best, even if you must limit the number. You can then fill in with good grade ewes that will not cost much, but which will bring good lambs, if your ram is first class.

Breed the grade ewes to the pure-bred ram and when the lambs are dropped make wethers of the rams and sell them off.

The best of the ewe lambs can be kept and by closely observing the rule of elimination, keeping only the choicest, the flock will quickly improve.

The weeding-out system should be carried into the pure-bred ewes as well, and every lamb that is not up to the mark should be disposed of. Culls, even if pure bred, should go to the block.

Sell the pure-bred rams for breeding purposes, as they will always bring good prices.

Breed the pure-bred ewes when about a year old, and always select the best of their lambs to be added to the flock.

It is interesting work, this breeding up a flock of pure blood sheep, and it pays excellently well for the time and money spent. In fact, there is no other animal which the man of moderate means can raise that will do the farm as much good and bring in as much clean money.

Your sheep must always be well cared for, summer and winter.

Have a place where they can get under cover quickly in the event of sudden storms, which are likely at this season of the year. A structure of this kind should be more than a roof; it should be so deep that the sheep can get far enough under so that the storm cannot possibly reach them. It should also be a hooded shed; that is, some provision should be made for a low front that will break the storm.

If this is not feasible, a good way is to build up a straw stack or stack of cornstalks in the open in front of the open part of the shed, but several feet away so that the sheep will not feel they are penned in, yet can readily get in by going around the stack on the other side.

The floor should be dry at all times, and it is an excellent plan to have more or less roughage which the sheep may munch over to keep them happy and contented.

It is not intended that this shed be more than a place of cover in case of storm. The barn or stable should be the regular home and arranged for comfort.

The subject of marketing is one of the greatest importance and quite another story.

Ideal Place for Sows.

A rye field is an ideal place in which to keep hogs, especially brood sows. Nothing affords such abundance of pasture in the eastern states. It quickly recovers after close cropping and requires but little moisture to keep it growing when sown upon well-prepared ground.

Give All Animals Exercise. Lack of exercise is bad for all farm animals, but especially so for brood sows. Make them exercise daily, and they will not be so apt to eat their young at farrowing time.
